Democratic Nonsense About Peace.

The solemn and pompous talk which we daily hear from leading Democrats in regard to the duty of the Government to try to make peace on some terms, with rebels in arms against the Nation's life, is as ridiculous as it is treasonable Those who utter such stuff know better, because the master spirits of the rebellion have not ceased declaring from the day when they began the war, down to the present time, that nothing short of independence would satisfy them Any and everything but that—anything besides the destruction of the Union and the recognition of the separate national existence of the "Confederate States" has been hooted at, and scouted by the whole body of the supporters of the rebel cause It is idle, therefore, it is supremely foolish to talk about peace or to pretend that it could be obtained by any compromise or withdrawal of presidential proclamations or any sort of Congressional action whatever Doubtless the rebels are glad to know that these pretences are made by Northern sympathizers, because they think that in this way some division may be created in the loyal States which may operate in their favor but still they never hesitate, when they have an opportunity, to show the utter folly and falsehood of all the arguments made by their Northern friends,—in other words, when the peace traitors of the North declare that the war has been protracted by the policy of the Administration, or that it might be terminated, if different plans were adopted, the rebels are quick and prompt to give them the lie direct The action of the Democracy is spurned with quite as much contempt as is the course of the Government The Richmond Dispatch very lately, referring to the Amnesty proclamation, thus scornfully and decisively repudiates all possible propositions, and shows the thorough nonsense of the incessant gabble, which flows from the mouths of Northern peace apostles:

> No one, however, knows better than Abraham Lincoln [illegible] any terms he might offer the Southern people [illegible] their restoration to his bloody [illegible] would be rejected with scorn [illegible] If [illegible] end of deciding to death our [illegible] and civil officers, he had pro- [illegible] Davis his successor, Lee Comman- [illegible] the Yankee [illegible], and our domestic [illegible] not only recognized at home, but readopted [illegible] States, provided the South would once [illegible] the Yankee Union, there is not a man, [illegible] or child in the Confederacy who would not spit upon the proposition We desire no companionship upon any terms with a nation of robbers and murderers The miscreants whose atrocities in this war have caused the whole civilized world to shudder, must keep henceforth their distance They shall not be our masters, and we would not have them for our slaves.

Now in the face of declarations like these, what do Democrats mean by talking about the possibility of peace, if their party was only in power? They must intend either to do what they can to destroy the Union and assist the rebels, or for the simple sake of party success, they lie most wickedly and monstrously. In either event, their base purpose is to help secession, and to injure the country

STILL IT COMES.—Cheering news continues to flow in from every part of the State for the Democratic cause There is scarcely a doubt of Col Kelly's election, and we shall carry nearly if not fully half the county tickets Abolitionism is fearfully on the decline —Eugene City Review

If the Review can derive any consolation from the news which it gets from any part of the State, we hope it will be happy—till the election day. After that, we shall publish the above again just to inquire whether Kelly is elected, and how many county tickets have been carried by the jubilant Democracy. We don't pretend to know the sources of the wonderful news that flows into the Review, but we don't believe Col Kelly himself expects anything less than a majority of two thousand against him, and our information from every part of the State satisfies us that there is no more chance for the Democracy to carry three counties even, than there is for the rebel army to conquer New England But the Review may anoint its contented soul with flattering unctions, if such nonsense makes it happy, but it need not expect to fool anybody by such devices It will only excite ridicule The people know better, and laugh at its gross absurdity.

MARYLAND.—This State has furnished nine regiments, embracing over eight thousand negro soldiers for the service

Speaking at Silverton

SILVERTON May 14th, 1864

EDITOR OREGONIAN

His Excellency, Gov Gibbs, N T Caton, Esq, and Judge Hayden, spoke here to day to an audience of several hundred Caton led off in an hours speech, completely demolishing the Administration, root and branch, with the exception of Secretary Seward, whom he characterized as a high toned gentleman and as good a lawyer as himself. No, be aint, [illegible] shouted the shepherd of the faithful flock, I know him well This speech from such a source encouraged the orator, and he waxed grandly eloquent dividing at this point his speech into three grand divisions, viz 1st Nigger 2d Woolly headed Nigger 3d, More Nigger Abolition Emancipation Confiscation, Miscegenation &c, and concluded by accusing the Governor of squandering the public funds appointing militia officers at exorbitant salaries, in time of profound peace, (bless the mark) and winking at a code partly written by himself, in which a white man's life might be sworn away by an Indian, for the pitiful sum of max dollars Such is a fair statement of the essence of N T Caton's speech

The Governor now took the stand, and in less than twenty minutes fairly, me, and refuted every important charge made by Caton He said he thought he had been very successful in his appointment of military men, but could not boast much of his skill when it come to Notaries Public If that didn't touch the loyal heart of that meeting I am no judge

The Governor's speech, from beginning to end, was one of the best that it has been my good fortune to hear since our national difficulties commenced, and in speaking thus in favor of it, I think I but utter the unanimous opinion of every loyal lady and gentleman present All honor to Gov Gibbs, and every other man that does such service for our glorious cause

Judge Hayden now came forward, as he said, to appeal to the reason of the people They had been completely humbugged and demagogued by the Governor, for an hour and a half This speech, on the whole, was a little ahead of Caton's, but in the same direction He said that when the Administration concluded to teach the young wooley heads how to shoot in the vicinity of Beaufort, a number of school marms were imported from Massachusetts for that purpose, and over sixty of them had already given birth to mulatto children Oh, how he wept over Massachusetts morals He read from the Congressional Globe to prove that the Administration thought more of a nigger than a white man When the votes were read, and it appeared that Senator Nesmith had voted against allowing negroes to ride in the cars that Senator received the applause of every secessionist in the crowd He concluded by initiating all present into the loyal Union League, and whining piteously over the fate of the patriot Vallandigham It was a proud day for the Union men, as the sixth of next month will testify, after that, no sound can awake the copperheads to glory again

One secesh offered three cheers for little Mac They were given, as weak as water Three much better ones were given for Hayden, and then three rousing cheers were given for the Governor, three for Grant, and three for honest Old Abe The secesh gave nary cheer for Grant SPECTATOR.

A "YANKEE TRICK."—The rebels will have fresh cause to dislike the "vulgar Yankees" General Smith played one of the cruelest tricks on them the other day that has been played since the war begun The rebs had been at work for the year past or more in the erection of Fort De Russy By this formidable work they expected to command effectually the Red river They bragged over it as one of their "Gibraltars" It was garrisoned by a force of 11,000 troops under General Dick Taylor. This doughty chieftain learning of the approach of our little army, hastened forth to meet and overwhelm it. Attacking it in the rear he confidently expected to make short work of it But the Federal commander, actuated by that detestable cunning which is a chief attribute of the Yankee, instead of turning round and fighting, started at full speed for the Fort reached it two hours before the rebels and coolly took possession of it leaving Taylor and his tatterdemallions shivering "out in the cold!" As a consequence of this act of bad breeding our fleet was enabled to pass without interruption into the very heart of the Red river country No wonder the rebels vow they won't live with us —Albany Evening Journal

PRODUCE SPECULATORS.—The feeling of indignation against the heartless produce speculators is fast spreading in this city, and is taking a shape likely to be felt by these domestic hyenas The general plan is, when an article reaches a price clearly exorbitant, to cut it off, partially or altogether and employ a substitute Thus our reporter yesterday [illegible] a number of visits paid to families, all being in decent circumstances, found many of them using [illegible] asses and syrups in place of butter at fifty or sixty cents a pound In four families, sweet lard, properly prepared with salt was found in use the children eating bread spread with it without remarking the difference. It is far more pleasant to the taste than second or third rate butter At one dinner table, a very palatable gravy was found, composed of lard and flour, seasoned to the taste This, poured upon bread, meat or potatoes answers very well At all events it is better to sacrifice, for a time some of the more expensive table comforts, than to feel that by indulging in them encouragement is given to the poor man's enemies to persevere in their wicked work —New York Sun, March 30th

EXPECTED CHANGE OF COLOR.—If the color of Jeff Davis' skin, says Prentice were to strike in his soul would be white. If the color of his soul were to strike out, his skin would be black

That is true also of a good many others, some of whom are right here in Oregon Their avowed sympathy with Davis—their bitter hostility to the Government are coming out so fast, that we look every day to see if they are not turning black, and their skin becoming of the color of their souls.

NOT UNWILLING TO RIDE WITH SOLDIERS.—It is said that when Gen Grant was going down from Washington to the front one day recently, the train, having attached to it the special car stopped at Brandy Station Some soldiers who were waiting to go down asked if they could get into the car "No," was the answer of an officer "this is Gen Grant's special car" Gen. Grant, who was sitting by the window promptly thrust out his head and said, "Gen Grant occupies only one seat, the soldiers can ride."

DON'T BELONG THERE.—Mr Joseph Bergman who is named as a delegate to the Democratic Convention from the South Portland Precinct, requests us to say in his behalf that he utterly declines the unwelcome distinction attempted to be put upon him. He declares that he does not train in that crowd has no sympathy with its purposes or politics, and acts with no party which does not "keep step to the music of the Union"

At the celebration of the battle of Pea Ridge, in St Louis recently, Colonel Waugo [illegible] made a pithy reply to a toast in his honor He said "As I gave my right arm to my country, I can only say to her, here is my left"

One of the Chapman pirates John McFadden, has been convicted in San Francisco, of garroting and robbery.

SCENE IN CONGRESS.—A dispatch to the St Louis Democrat, dated Washington April 12th, gives the following interesting sketch

THE SPEECH OF GENERAL SCHENCK

to day on the resolution of Speaker Colfax for the expulsion of the traitor Long, was one of the most terrible arraignments ever made against any man or party He devoted himself to the Copperhead party Long more especially and Fernando Wood most specially At the opening of the House this morning, Wood delivered a speech in defense of Long which was intended to be an exceedingly careful one While asserting that he did not agree with Long, of Ohio in favor of recognizing the Southern Confederacy he yet said he wasn't a war Democrat and that he could be no such thing as a War [illegible] He quoted very copiously from the [illegible] kind of anti-slavery men from [illegible] rabid non voting fanatics classing them all as Republicans and in many instances quoting extracts that had very [illegible] again been branded [illegible] all this to make out that the members [illegible] [illegible] times as [illegible] very unguarded or very imprudent in their utterances

General Schenck opened up with the New York Copperheads with heavy Dahlgren guns at once [illegible] prefacing his speech with a light artillery He went to work with a good stomach, and never was Copperhead any other venomous serpent flayed as was Fernando The latter squirmed and twisted and wriggled—an unusual thing for him being generally very cool and collected As the sharp knife of the indignant Chairman of the Military Committee cut into the flesh the New York traitor [illegible] terribly but [illegible] he attempted to interrupt Schenck, but the latter would not give way On one side [illegible] to be interrupted by that enemy of his country Fernando turned pale with rage, but made no further effort to obtain the floor during the speech

There was one point during the close of the speech of Gen Schenck at which he arose to the point of sublime eloquence It was when he said that he regretted that there was no scaffold [illegible] where in the traitor from New York could be executed as he richly deserved but that he would [illegible] a gibbet of public opinion upon which he would [illegible] hung as high as Haman The galleries burst forth with uproarious applause at this patriotic utterance and it was impossible for the Speaker pro tem to restrain their cheers

General Schenck is a man of sternness of purpose, which is indelibly stamped upon his countenance. His voice is strong and earnest and when fired by enthusiasm or aroused by indignation its ringing tones conquer respectful attention even from his opponents There was no resisting the terrible stream of denunciation which he launched upon the traitors Long and Wood and the Copperheads generally He carried with him the thousands upon thousands of patriotic hearts with which the galleries were thronged he carried with him the entire Union side of the House and he carried with him as he well knew, the sympathies of the loyal millions throughout the North, for whom he was speaking

Gen Schenck is so far from being a noisy, brawling politician, accustomed to denunciation of his political adversaries, that he is usually exceedingly courteous in debate, and this fact renders his arraignment of the Copperheads to-day all the more impressive and effectual The corroding years of old age will never efface this speech from the memories even of the youngest of those who heard it to day Few like it have ever been made in Congress—few occasions occur for making such

And in the same day's proceedings, in describing which I speak thus of this great speech I have another, equally as great, to mention—that of Henry Winter Davis—made in the evening session But first of the intervening proceedings.

DAN VOORHEES, OF INDIANA,

followed Schenck in a speech, the first fifteen minutes of which, did him some credit as an orator but which degenerated into frantic ravings before the close Voorhees was evidently put forward by the Copperheads as the best man to reply to Schenck He roared and he plunged like a mad bull, indulging in such references to history as he could bring to mind, mixing up Nero and Marat and Jefferies promiscuously, and denouncing Schenck as the embodiment of all that was inhuman in all He alluded to General Schenck's engagement with his brigade at the beginning of the war, at Vienna Virginia, as a "retrograde movement, and General Schenck not being in his seat at the time, called Voorhees' attention to it at the close of his speech, and demanded to know what reflection he (Voorhees) had to make upon his (Schenck's) conduct on that occasion, where upon Voorhees crawfished—there being something in the General's eyes that looked very much like a fight

HENRY WINTER DAVIS

The clear, masterly and profound statesmanship of Davis is acknowledged by Congress by the country, by contemporaneous history That he is the ablest and most eloquent speaker in the House is undenied When, therefore, at the close of the dull speech of Kernan, Davis obtained the floor on this all absorbing question there was a great sensation, and it took some time to restore order The members gathered around Davis in groups He commenced by briefly reviewing the speech of Kernan, and in about five minutes refuted the arguments of an hour He then took up Fernando Wood and then Long beating down the sophisms and exposing the hypocrisy and disloyalty of the former and clearly presenting the case of treason and [illegible] in its true light After defining disloyalty he proceeded to convict the Democratic party of the nation, as at present organized of being fully disloyal [illegible] fixed upon them the crime by "confirmation strong as holy writ" He then made a patriotic appeal to the country, couched in the most fervid and glowing eloquence—an appeal in behalf of sustaining the Union and maintaining the integrity of the Government which will be recorded on the page of history as the most brilliant, patriotic utterance made during the present war At its conclusion the entire hall, galleries and floor rang with the outburst of hearty applause The distinguished speaker seemed to have aroused, by his overmastering logic, rounded by his transcendant rhetoric all the latent enthusiasm on the Republican side of the House, and though there are some personal animosities cherished among the friends of the Administration against Davis, they were all forgotten in the feeling of admiration at the glorious championship of freedom and the Union he had displayed

SLANDERS AGAINST OFFICERS.—The Army and the Navy Journal sees in the recent changes of commanders a curious commentary upon the reliability of popular estimates of military men

After the battle of Belmont and more particularly subsequent to the fearful struggle at Pittsburg Landing charges against the private character of General Grant were freely bruited about which would now blister the tongue of the man who might have the hardihood to repeat them The lapse of two years has not only branded the [illegible] as the barest libels but has brought unsolicited [illegible] regarding whom they were uttered the highest military honors it is in the power of Congress to confer So with General Sherman He was positively and repeatedly declared to be insane not much more than two years ago, and was temporarily without a command because he frankly declared his conviction that at least two hundred thousand men would be needed to clear the rebels out of Kentucky and Tennessee To day he controls the movements of more than that number in the division of the Mississippi and the great West is daily sending him reinforcements by hundreds General W F Smith has also lived down the outrageous slanders which newspaper correspondents uttered against him while the siege of Yorktown was progressing and now at General Grant's solicitation, he has been nominated for promotion to the next highest grade in the army

DISAPPOINTED INDEED.—The following is related of a judicial functionary by the Boise (I T) News:

We learn that Judge Parks, on arriving at Fort Boise, where the commander of that post had promised to furnish him an escort to Salt Lake, was quite astounded when he was informed by the officer that his escort would consist of two Snake Indians, who would accompany him on foot and pack his rations for him The Judge, justly indignant at such treatment, spurned this offer, and went by way of Portland and San Francisco

ANOTHER CARGO OF APPLES.—Another cargo of apples arrived from Oregon on the steamer [illegible] and were readily sold at prices ranging from [illegible] to 20 [illegible] The qualities were [illegible] but the great demand for them [illegible] in the prices paid [illegible] eagerly bought at the prices [illegible] [illegible] and dealers feel [illegible] stock as long as they can [illegible] cargo consisted of 800 boxes [illegible] of which were purchased by Addison Martin & Co. —S F Flag

PROFITS OF MARTYRDOM.—The Buffalo Express declares that it has good authority for saying that the Ohio Copperheads have deposited in the bank at Windsor to the credit of Vallandigham $18,000 That is something like—Copperhead martyrdom in his case—is a paying affair He makes more money by it than Arnold did by his treason

TELEG[illegible] AGAIN.—We received [illegible] yesterday, and hoped we should be able [illegible] readers with a full report of [illegible] but in the [illegible] stopped [illegible] up Of course [illegible] the obliging operator [illegible] in the connection will [illegible] this forenoon, we shall endeavor [illegible] posted for [illegible] portant, and [illegible] will be issued this eve[illegible] graph is a great institution, [illegible] very uncertain one It has however [illegible] us so much good news this [illegible] not grumble if the wires do [illegible] rest awhile on the ground

A BIG SCARE.—Cries of fire were sounded on Washington street, near Front, about half past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, and in an incredibly short space of time an immense crowd had collected in the vicinity of the old Opera House expecting to witness a conflagration The fire department turned out in full force, at the tap of the bells and were almost ready to "let fly" the first water, when Chief Engineer Buchtel's head appeared through an upper story window, commanding the "boys" to "hold on" The fire was only in a chimney and needed nothing from the cistern to quench it

MOVEMENT OF ARTILLERY.—A long piece of artillery, borne on a gun carriage passed up Front street on Wednesday evening, destination unknown A prominent Front street merchant came very near being run over by it when opposite the Pioneer Hotel All attempts to find out where it was going to were fruitless some said it was for the league, and some said the K G C's were fortifying themselves, but we don't know anything about it

LOOKING AT HIS SHADOW.—A young man went to a log that is caught on a snag in the river opposite the Court House, on Wednesday evening in a skiff, and when he stepped from the skiff on the log he was astonished to find himself alone, seeing the boat float away He was left to watch his shadow for some time before assistance reached him.

DRIFT WOOD.—Large quantities of drift wood floating past the city yesterday, indicated that the current of the river still had a "downward tendency," notwithstanding the pressure from the rise Among the drift we noticed several large trees, some of which were hauled in on the opposite shore of the river

INDIAN AFFRAY.—An affray occurred between a Rogue river Indian and a Spokane, at the corner of Morrison and Front streets, at a late hour last evening, in which the former was badly stabbed in the back The Spokane made his escape

PRACTICING.—The singing at the dedication of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday will be something pretty good, if we are permitted to judge from what we have heard of the rehearsals for a few evenings past, of the choir of that Society

ARRIVAL OF THE MONITOR.—The bark Monitor Capt Nelson Mister, arrived from Nanaimo last evening with 400 tons of coal to the O S N Company She had fair winds and ascended the rivers without the aid of a steamer

LAST OF AN ANCIENT STRUCTURE.—Workmen have been engaged for several days in tearing away and tearing down the old buildings on the south west corner of Washington and Front streets. The shingle-sided structure opposite the entrance to this office, if we are correctly informed, is a relic of the olden time, and was originally built during the year 1843 by F W Pettigrove, now of Port Townsend W T, and occupied by him as a store. In those early days the building next to it, on the corner, was used for a warehouse, and the site of the block this office is on was made to "blossom like a rose" with the garden produce of the early pioneers who spent their time in a quietude rarely broken, except by the music of the rustling breezes swaying the tall pines that surrounded them. The scenes within and without the old buildings in those days would afford much for the contemplation, when a remote and sparse settlement took up the spot where now thousands tread almost daily, and may be likened to a solitary log cabin situated on the bank of a beautiful river The structure that will be reared over the vacant site will be a fitting emblem of the rapid progress of Portland, and no better subject can be produced for convincing those who still have a lingering doubt about our permanency or wealth.

TELEGRAPH WIRES DOWN AGAIN.—We received a partial dispatch yesterday, and hoped we should be able to furnish our readers with a full report of eastern news; but in the twinkling of an eye the machine stopped work and our fountains dried up. Of course "nobody is to blame," and as the obliging operator tells us that the break in the connection will probably be repaired this forenoon, we shall endeavor to get thoroughly posted by to-morrow, and if the intelligence is important and arrives in season an extra will be issued this evening, The telegraph is a great institution, but it is a very uncertain one. It has however brought us so much good news this week that we will not grumble, if the wires do get tired, and rest awhile in the ground.

A BIG SCARE.—Cries of fire were sounded on Washington street, near Front, about half past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, and in an incredibly short space of time an immense crowd had collected in the vicinity of the old Opera House, expecting to witness a conflagration The fire department turned out in full force, at the tap of the bells, and were almost ready to "let fly" the first water, when Chief Engineer Buchtel's head appeared through an upper story window, commanding the "boys" to "hold on." The fire was only in a chimney, and needed nothing from the cistern to quench it.

MOVEMENT OF ARTILLERY.—A long piece of artillery, borne on a gun carriage, passed up Front street on Wednesday evening, destination unknown. A prominent Front street merchant came very near being run over by it when opposite the Pioneer Hotel. All attempts to find out where it was going to were useless. some said it was for the league, and some said the K. G C.'s were fortifying themselves, but we don't know anything about it

LOOKING AT HIS SHADOW.—A young man went to a log that is caught on a snag in the river opposite the Court House, on Wednesday evening in a skiff, and when he stepped from the skiff on the log he was astonished to find himself alone, seeing the boat float away. He was left to watch his shadow for some time before assistance reached him.

DRIFT WOOD.—Large quantities of drift wood floating past the city yesterday, indicated that the current of the river still had a "downward tendency," notwithstanding the pressure from the rise Among the drift we noticed several large trees, some of which were hauled in on the opposite shore of the river.

INDIAN AFFRAY.—An affray occurred between a Rogue river Indian and a Spokane, at the corner of Morrison and Front streets, at a late hour last evening, in which the former was badly stabbed in the back. The Spokane made his escape.

PRACTICING.—The singing at the dedication of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday will be something pretty good, if we are permitted to judge from what we have heard of the rehearsals for a few evenings past, of the choir of that Society.

ARRIVAL OF THE MONITOR.—The bark Monitor, Capt Nelson Master, arrived from Nanaimo last evening with 400 tons of coal to the O. S N Company She had fair winds and ascended the rivers without the aid of a steamer.

OVER THE FALLS.—A scow loaded with hay and potatoes, was by accident run over the falls of the Willamette on Wednesday, making a complete wreck of the boat, and an entire loss of the cargo.

DISCHARGED.—Stanley, who was arrested upon a charge of stealing in California, was discharged upon examination before Recorder McCoy yesterday.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.—Attention is directed to the notice in another column of the times and places where the Union candidates of Multnomah county will address the citizens

Presbyterian Church Notice.—The "First Presbyterian Church of Portland will be dedicated to the service of Almighty God on Sunday morning the 22d inst at the usual hour for service The public are respectfully invited By order of the Board of Trustees
H W CORBETT Sec'y

Notice.—The Presbyterian Church will be opened on Monday morning the 23d inst from 10 to 2 o'clock, to give persons an opportunity to select seats We shall commence letting the seats at 2 o'clock P M Terms quarterly in advance By order of the Board of Trustees

NOT TOO GOOD.—If you buy the best you buy the cheapest. Shelby has the best, most general and well selected stock of boots and shoes to be seen in this market We do not propose to advise but an examination of his stock before buying elsewhere is our reasonable conclusion

Jaundice.—This yellow coloration of the skin is characteristic of an increased secretion of bile, or of its passage into the blood in consequence of some obstruction in the circulation of the liver Being itself but a symptom the cause must be attacked in the central diseased organ and ample experience proves that the PERUVIAN SYRUP acts in a wonderful manner in stimulating the liver to the proper performance of its duty

Dr Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative It regulates, recruits and purifies them Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere ap26d1m

Fashionable Rivalry.

It not unfrequently happens that a very small incident will set the whole female world of Fashion in commotion. Such an incident happened last Monday, when Mrs. La Haut Ton, of the Fifth Avenue, purchased that magnificent piece of moire antique that every one was crowding to see. What a gorgeous piece of dress-goods it was! A plain ground of a pale salmon color, heavily watered and ornamented with bouquets of lilies and leaves in the richest of raised brocade. At least a dozen of the leaders of the fashion in this city had determined each to secure that piece of silk for her own special use, and about four dozen more had determined to have at least a dress of it, when, woe the day! that provoking Mrs. Haut Ton astonished them all by carrying it away to her charmed abode. Now, why did Mrs. Haut Ton content herself with only the entire piece, which consisted of fifty yards, at $10 per yard, when thirteen yards would have sufficed for her dress? Simply because Mr. Haut Ton had accumulated three million of dollars since the commencement of the present war; and his wife having been raised from the grade of nursery governess to her present exalted position, is, of course, very rich, very fashionable, and very exclusive, and could on no account endure life if another woman sported a ball dress of the same pattern as her own. Happy Mrs. Haut Ton! How did her bosom palpitate with a variety of conflicting emotions, when she realized that the lovely moire was all her own. Wednesday evening came, and with it a grand ball, at which Mrs. Haut Ton appeared in the much coveted robe. It was made in the newest style; full gored skirt, without any trimmings to obscure the gorgeous pattern, and low Pompadour waist, with sleeves, and Pompadour chemisette of real lace. Loud were the encomiums bestowed upon it by the many friends of the fair wearer, and loudest and sincerest the praises of the handsome Mrs. Beau Monde. Mrs. Haut Ton and Mrs. Beau Monde were rivals—had been so from girlhood, when, as nursery governesses, they [illegible] for the admiration of the same swain, and in a variety of ways had remained rivals ever since, till the present time found them [illegible] establishments, rivals in equipages, rivals in wealth, and rivals in costumes. [illegible] there was something in the sincere praises of Mrs. Beau Monde that galled her [illegible] to the heart, and she carefully began to look about for the solution of it. By the [illegible] chance Mrs. Haut Ton unraveled the thread [illegible] but not till the next day—no matter, [illegible] enough to avenge herself [illegible] that in a case of goods which Mrs. [illegible] had caused to be sent to her [illegible] a single dress pattern of the [illegible] moire antique, and it was even now [illegible] maker's being made up in a style [illegible] that would forever outshine [illegible] of Mrs. Haut Ton's dress. "[illegible]," thought that much abused lady, "forewarned, forearmed."—[illegible], and with it another grand ball [illegible] appeared Mrs. Beau Monde with the gorgeous moire antique, an exact [illegible] of Mrs. Haut Ton's, made in the same [illegible] and skirt exactly to correspond [illegible] her rival and friend, but [illegible] There was a difference. Over [illegible] of lilies was thrown a hazy [illegible] the centre of which sparkled a [illegible]. Mrs. Beau Monde had ransacked her entire jewel-case to supply the stones. [illegible] the praises which greeted this [illegible] innumerable the questions [illegible], and how she had persuaded Mrs. Haut Ton to let her have the pattern. Mrs. Beau Monde smiled in triumph, [illegible] nothing except that she had not got the dress [illegible] dear friend Anna, for whom she [illegible] a little anxiously [illegible] suspicion that perhaps [illegible], and half her glory [illegible]. But Mrs. Haut Ton was [illegible] generation—wondrous wise, [illegible] when to make her appearance [illegible]. At 12 o'clock she appeared [illegible] in silver colored velvet, [illegible] front with diamond [illegible] at the sleeves with diamond [illegible] on the hair with a butterfly [illegible] with wings sprinkled with tiny [illegible] of diamonds. Her jewel-case [illegible] ransacked to meet the great [illegible]. A buzz of admiration hummed through the groups of females when this incomparable [illegible] appeared; and from Mrs. Beau Monde's head made a rapid descent toward the hem of her gorgeous robe. "How lovely [illegible] dress is!" she continued to say, [illegible] "I almost like your velvet as well as mine. [illegible] Pray, what color is yours, Jenny? [illegible] I haven't seen it?" "But what [illegible] think of Mrs. Beau Monde's dress, Mrs. Haut Ton? It is even handsomer than [illegible]," here said a mutual friend. Mrs. Haut Ton turned toward Mrs. Beau Monde [illegible] the dress for the first time, and then burst into a peal of laughter. "Why, Jenny [illegible]—why, Jenny! You are the [illegible] woman. How did you persuade [illegible] to lend you my dress?" "Your dress [illegible]" said Mrs. Beau Monde with indignation, [illegible] voice scarcely articulate. "It's my own dress, madam!" "Then she sold it to you [illegible] hussy! But no, she would n't dare! And so she lent it to you, and you thought [illegible] its identity by trimming it over [illegible] very pretty trimming, I declare, and it's Gauchen's credit; for, of course, she trimmed it. Now I see the anxiety she felt about my coming to this ball, and even tried to keep my dress till I should be too late. The wretch! and how much did you have to give her to lend you the dress, Jenny? O, a good round sum, I warrant; she knew the risk she ran. Only think," added Mrs. Haut Ton, turning to her listeners, "I got disenchanted with my dress, sent it to Gauchen to have the skirt taken apart, and together with the remnant, made into hangings for my bedroom, and she has lent the dress to Mrs. Beau Monde. It's too funny, I declare—such a joke! I shall scarcely feel like scolding Gauchen for giving me such a laugh," and with another glance at the dress, and a vain attempt to restrain her merriment, Mrs. Haut Ton moved off in triumph, and Mrs. Beau Monde remained pale and speechless, conscious of a succession of cold chills and a terrible desire to throttle her "dearest friend Anna;" and this it is that so interests the world of fashion just now. The insolent question, Was the dress Mrs. Haut Ton's or Mrs. Beau Monde's own? But of course, it will never be settled. Mrs. Beau Monde can never appear in a dress to match Mrs. Haut Ton's curtains; and who is going to take her simple word that the dress was her own, when every one knows that Mrs. Haut Ton bought up the entire piece?—Ex.

DEMAND FOR LABOR.—Parties owning mining claims in Siskiyou and Klamath counties are advertising for laborers at $3 50 per day. The Yreka Journal of the 4th instant complains that the quartz mills in that region are moving lazily for want of hands, and for the same reason the placer mines are losing the season's supply of water, without making any use of it. There never was a time in Siskiyou county when such a demand for labor prevailed. Farmers in Scott's Valley are offering $4 per day, and are losing their crops for want of hands.

Squire Jack was a cabinet-maker and undertaker, known as a master workman. One day a couple came to his office to get married. The man's face was familiar to the Squire, and he ordered him off in this wise: "Begone, you scoundrel! you have n't paid me for your first wife's coffin."

BILIN' WATER vs. COALS!—Mrs. X., who resides in our Senatorial district, had a neighbor who was represented to be quarrelsome in his family, making his home anything but a pleasant abode. She, however, having heard that his wife was a good deal of a vixen, thought that the wife might be blamed for the unpleasant state of affairs in the household. So, full of charity and the doctrines of the law of kindness, Mrs. X. visited her neighbor's house, with the benevolent intent of reconciling the differences existing there, and, addressing the better half something in this style: "Now, you know," said she, "how much pleasanter it would be if you and your husband would live together without quarrelling; both you and your children would be happier; and instead of being a reproach to the neighborhood, you might become honored members of society. And it may be," she continued, "you are not altogether blameless in this matter. Suppose you try and see what the law of kindness will do in effecting a reconciliation. It certainly can do no harm, and you may succeed in touching the tender chords of his heart, and he may renew his old affection. Try it," she urged, "and if you do not succeed, you will at least heap coals of fire on his head," and so on. All this was listened to, when this reply was made: "I don't know about your coals of fire; I've tried bilin' hot water, and it did n't do a bit of good."

JOSH BILLINGS' ADVICE.—Dere Girls:—Keep cool. A blessed futur awaits yu, enny how. Take lessons on the pianna at onst; piannas are getting skuse. Bi awl means larn to pla the nu song that has jis cum out, "When John Brown is over we are father Abraham cumming with this kruel war several strong." This stanzy took the premium at the State fair. Don't be afraid tew get married, your ma wan't afrade. Learn how to nit pudding bags to put your hare in. Be virchuous and pretty. Eat slait pensils; that will make you apri at figgers. Eat kolone water; tha will maik a good smel. Let your pettykoats drag on the sidewalks, and if any man steps on them slap his chops at onst. If you have got small fete, keep 'em hid—small fete has gone out of fashion. Studdy travels; Tom Mores, and Byrons, and Gullivers, and Wandering Jews and Vallandighams iz awl first rate. If you kah spare the time be lovly and swete. Remember 1 thing, their ain't nothing in this life worth living for but a rich husband. If you don't beleve me, ask your ma. If you have red hare, you had better exchange it for black; black hare tha tell me is going to be worn much next year. Don't have ennything to do with the boys unless tha mean business. If you don't kno how to skait, you mite as well join sum traveling nunery at onct, for your played out.

The hat was passed around in a certain congregation for the purpose of taking up a collection. After it had made the circuit of the church, it was handed to the minister, who, by the way, had exchanged pulpits with the regular pastor, and he found not a penny in it. He inverted the hat over the pulpit cushion and shook it, that its emptiness might be known, then raising his eyes towards the ceiling, he exclaimed, with great fervor, "I thank God that I have got back my hat from this congregation."

A German statistical writer remarks that the invention of the sewing machine has enabled one woman to sew as much as a hundred could sew by hand a century ago, but, he continues, one woman demands as much clothing now as a hundred did a century ago—so that the situation is not changed much after all.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,
OR PROTECTED
Solution of Protoxide of Iron,
Has been used with Great Success in Curing
DYSPEPSIA,
Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhea, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,
and all Diseases which require a Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public:

Rev. JOHN PIERPONT, THOMAS C. AMORY,
THOMAS A. DEXTER, PETER HARVEY,
S. H. KENDALL, M D, JAMES C. DUNN,
SAMUEL MAY, Rev. THOS. WHITTEMORE.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M D, IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1864, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is signally soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

MEDICAL WONDER

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.
